Architect
Barkow Leibinger Architects, Berlin

Production year: 2005

Initial situation
Glass, steel, and concrete lend the modern building the impression of transparency. The fabric used to cover the partitions was to fit discretely into the interior decoration concept of the room as well as to ensure sound absorption.

Solution
In colour and texture, our product Lord fits excellently into the overall concept and works well with the Vitra partition system as well as fulfilling the acoustic requirements within the room.

Product
Lord
